David M. Perkins to be featured in The 20th Annual Celebration of the Art and Artists in Our Community – published by The Azle News in Azle, Texas

November 5, 2010

David M. Perkins, author of Dear Austin – A Letter To My Son, is honored to be featured, along with dozens of talented artists, writers, and performers who live in and around Azle, Texas, in this year's special section on fine arts in The Azle News.

The special edition will be published on November 11, 2010 and will be available on news stands in the Dallas/Fort Worth area, as well as the offices of The Azle News. This year's edition features articles on painters, writers, singers, potters, sculptors, musicians, actors and dancers, all living in and around Azle, Texas - or having grown up in the area, as in Mr. Perkins' case.

Mr. Perkins owes a huge "thank you" to Bob Buckel, publisher of The Azle News, as well as writer/reporter Carolea Hassard for including him in this special edition despite the fact that he no longer lives in the area.

The entire article, including published photos, will be available at David M. Perkins' website within a few days of publication.

David M. Perkins to be profiled in the February 2011 edition of The Costco Connection published for the membership of Costco Wholesale Warehouse

December 29, 2010

David M. Perkins, author of Dear Austin - A Letter To My Son, will be featured in the upcoming February issue of Costco Warehouse's publication, The Costco Connection.

Interviewed in December by Costco Connection staff writer, Steve Fisher, Perkins will be included in the monthly magazine's "Member Connection" column. The regular column profiles members who have achieved recognition or success or who, in the opinion of Costco's editors, have an interesting story to tell.

While Dear Austin - A Letter To My Son is not currently available in Costco's book department, it has been passed on to Costco's book buyers for review.

The February issue containing the article will be mailed to Costco members in the last week of January 2011. It will also be available in Costco stores, at Costco.com, and on Mr. Perkins' website at:
